1 Policy Statement

At Eltham College it is our policy to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health and safety of our employees, students and anyone else who may be affected by our work activities. The School assesses the risks from our work activities and operates according to the procedures that best promote health and safety at work. The school accepts its responsibilities for health and safety and is committed to providing required resources including staff time, finance, and machinery necessary to achieve the objectives of this policy

The school's adherence to health and safety in catering and cleaning of the food preparation and eating areas is subject to external inspection by the Local Authority Environmental Health Officer (EHO). In addition, the Catering Manager arranges for an independent hygiene and safety audit of food storage, meal preparation and food serving areas once a year, together with regular external deep cleaning and pest control services.

The school has fire risk assessments, carried out by a competent person, which are reviewed every year for progress on completion of items in the action plan. They are updated every three years or more frequently if significant changes are made to the interior of buildings or new buildings are bought or added.

The school has a comprehensive policy in place for the training and induction of new staff in health and safety-related issues which includes basic manual handling and working at height. Health and safety training that is related to an individual member of staff's functions, such as science technician, will be provided in addition to the 'standard' induction training. First aid training and minibus driver training are provided to all members of staff who are involved with relevant trips and visits and to other members of staff on a risk-assessed basis.

All members of staff are responsible for taking reasonable care of their own safety and that of students, visitors, temporary staff, volunteers and contractors. They are responsible for co-operating with their Heads of Department and reporting any deficiencies in equipment or systems.

A Health and Safety committee meeting is held each term ensuring continued senior management focus on Health and Safety issues.

The Governing body has ultimate responsibility for health and safety within the School and has nominated a competent person to manage day to day operations. Other responsibilities for health and safety matters have been assigned as appropriate and are described in our 'Responsibilities' section.

The Chair of Governors oversees an annual review of this policy and associated procedures to ensure their continued effectiveness. Where necessary to ensure legal compliance and promote continuous improvement, the policy and associated procedures are amended and communicated to all affected parties.

2 Duties and Responsibilities

The main purpose of the sections that follow is to ensure that employees are aware of their legal responsibilities whilst at work, to confirm the health and safety management structure of the school, the appointments forming this structure and the duties and responsibilities allocated to employees.

3 General Responsibilities of All Employees

Eltham College takes seriously the health, safety and welfare of its employees and anyone else that may be affected by our work activities. We expect full cooperation from our employees to help us maintain safe working environments. It is our aim to create a positive safety culture within the school and maintain high standards.

Employees who are responsible for organising, managing and supervising work activities must ensure that our safety policies and procedures are followed at all times. Activities must be completed without significant risk of harm or loss; risks must be assessed, and measures adopted to enable this.

Where employees have limited experience of activities involving risk, supervision is afforded until such a time when their competence is deemed to be satisfactory. Training needs are assessed for all employees and the necessary training to enable employees to work safely is arranged.

Members of staff must refrain from using equipment likely to cause harm, for which they have had no training. If staff notice any unsafe equipment, acts or situations they must take action and report this to their line manager.

The school has in place a system for periodic monitoring. The purpose of this task is to continually assess our performance with respect to health and safety. Employees are nominated with specific monitoring responsibilities and from time to time wider staff members may be asked to provide assistance.

The Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 places duties on all workers. Sections 7 and 8 refer specifically to the duties of employees. These are to:

- Take reasonable care of your own health and safety and that of anyone else effected by what you do;
- Cooperate with us, your employer, enabling us to comply with our statutory duties;
- Refrain from intentionally or recklessly interfering with or misusing anything provided in the interest of health, safety and welfare.

Failure to act and comply with legal duties may result in disciplinary action being taken against an employee, and/or formal action being taken by an enforcing authority such as the Health and Safety Executive.

5 Employee Rules

Employee duties and responsibilities are explained in other parts of our health and safety policies. The intention of the following section is to communicate general rules. These apply to all employees.

In the interests of health and safety it is important that all employees cooperate with us and follow these rules.

As an employee you are responsible for the safety of yourself and that of others. The Governing Body and managers must ensure that rules have been communicated and are enforced.

Ignorance or breach of any safety arrangements that have been introduced may lead to disciplinary action up to and including summary dismissal for gross misconduct.

6 General Work Procedures and Rules

Employees must:

- Understand their responsibilities as employees and comply with any rules and procedures that apply;

Personal Health

- Inform us if they are taking prescribed drugs or medicines that may affect performance at work;
- Report any incident, injury or ill health which they believe has been caused by or taken place at work;

- Not under any circumstances attend work if they are experiencing the effects of alcohol or illegal drugs;
- Not under any circumstances consume alcohol or use illegal drugs whilst at work.

Key Holders

When routinely unlocking and securing the building, or accessing the building out of hours, key holders must consider their safety from the risk of violence – either from persons on site or following a break in, or where there could be a risk from live services, fire or damaged property.

Key holders should not attempt to enter the building alone if:

- There are signs of a break in – i.e. forced entry, broken locks or glass;
- The fire or intruder alarm is sounding;
- They otherwise suspect there may be unauthorised persons on site.

The key holder should delay entry until CCTV can be checked or they are escorted by the police, service contractor or other member of staff. In all cases, proceed with caution.

Misconduct

Eltham College expects employees to act responsibly at work and comply with our safety policies, rules and procedures. Failure to act responsibly may result in disciplinary action procedures being taken against an employee, up to and including dismissal.

7 Food Safety

Personal Health

It is imperative that the School is notified by employees and/or contractors who work in food handling or preparation if:

- They or their employees are sick with vomiting or diarrhoea;
- They or their employees have discharge from eyes or nose or throat;
- They or their employees have any septic skin conditions such as boils, septic cuts or sores;
- They or their employees have any other reportable infection such as heavy coughs, colds and flu like symptoms.

Employees must:

- Ensure they report to their manager and keep away from food preparation and cooking areas until deemed non contagious.

The following are notifiable infections under the RIDDOR regulations:

- Typhoid/paratyphoid;
- Salmonella infections;
- Amoebic or bacillary dysentery;
- Staphylococcal infection.

If these are diagnosed by a physician, the local authority Environmental Health department must be informed.

Employees must ensure that:

- Hands are washed according to recommended procedures;
- Uniform is clean at all times and cross contamination (including of allergens) is controlled by the use of plastic disposable gloves and aprons where necessary;
- They will not knowingly infect foods making them unfit for human consumption by the addition of non-certified ingredients;
- All HACCP identified risks and CCPS are upheld to the best of their abilities;
- They do not smoke during food handling and preparation;
- First aid is only completed by a competent person and food safe dressings are used where required;
- No jewellery except for a plain wedding band is worn;

- Hair is kept clean, tidy and covered at all times.

This is not an exhaustive list and further information should be gained from your management team.

Eltham College as the landlord of the premises used by any contractor ensures that all remedial works are completed to food safety compliance levels. The Head of Maintenance is responsible for such tasks.
